Gen. Roussacu's Political Record.

ou the soil of Indiana, out of regard for "the peace of Keutucky," in deference to the poitical wisdom of good and true men, from whom, however, he had always, in this matter, respectfully differed. If he had followed his own views and judgment, Camp Holt would have been from the start on the soil of Kentucky. A Keutuckian onght not to turn his back on his own soil when acting in defense of his common couutry. It was no fear of secessionists which prompted him and his to encamp outside of Kentucky. He marched his troops last Satthrough the streets of Louisville, though good and true men had come over to Indiana and counselled him against it. He and his soldiers would never strike their colors. They would fight to put down traitors forever, to rescue the South from their tyrant grasp, and restore the blessings of liberty and good government to the American people. In his judgment nothing so infamous in the way of revolution had occurred since the world began. He felt sure that the cause of the Union would eventually triumph.

June 16, 1862, at the Galt House banquet, tendered him in the name of the patriotic people of Louisville, by James Speed, G. D. Prentice, Zack Sherley, W. H. Hughes of the Democrat, (then afflicted with "spasms of loyalty,") and thirty-two other prominent Louisvillians, Gen. Rousseau declared, that if we fail to restore the Union, "the evertasting nigger" will be the cause of the failure: that the negro is in the cause of the failure: that the negro is in the way, in spite of all that can be done or said; that standing before the eye of the seces-sionist, the negro hides all the blessings of our Government, throwing a black shadow on the sun itself; that slavery is not worth our Government, not worth our liberty, not worth all the precious blood now being poured out for freedom, not worth the free navigation of the Mississippi; that if slavery gets in the way of any of these rights, -why, slavery must get out of the way; that we must have our Government—if not as it now is, with slavery in it, still we must have our Government; that he was for the Government of the United States, against all it; enemies, against all things and every body; that though a born and by My Sayth. body; that, though a born and bred South-ern man, he could not hesitate one moment when the issue is presented between the "nigger" and the Government of our fathers; that he would not consent to become a slave that the negro may be kept a slave; that he would never sacrifice the happiness of his wife, child and friends, the welfare of his beloved State, and the glory of his country on an alter dedicated to the "Ebony Idol."

And August, 1863, at Louisville, General Rousseau declared substantially the same with his utterances the succeeding April at Shelbyville, Tenn., that slavery is the sole cause of all our troubles; that you can no more arrest the destruction of slavery in this struggle than roll back with the palm of your hand the billows of the ocean; that it will cease forever with the termination of this war; that he was prepared to sacrifice everything in crushing the rebellion; that, though without a drop of Northern blood in his veins, he toved his country better than slavery and his prejudices all; that devotion to his country was his guiding star, and if his country required it, he would take command of a negro brigade; that he was anxions to see slavery annihihis shoulder, fighting for the Government, far better than a rebel fighting against it.

One day the Hon. Thaddeus Steveus called with au elderly lady, in great trouble, whose son had been in the army, but for some offense had been court-martialed, and sentenced either to death or imprisonment at hard labor for a long term, I do not recollect which. There were some extenuating circumstances, and after a full hearing the President turned to the representative and said: "Mr. Steveus, do you hearing the President turned to the representative and said: "Mr. Stevens, do you think this is a case which will warrant my interference?" "With my knowledge of the facts and the parties," was the reply, "I should have no hesitation in granting a pardon," "Then," returned Mr. Lincoln, "I will pardon him," and ho proceeded forthwith to execute the paper. The gratitude of the mother was too deep for expression, save by her tears, and not a word was said between her and Mr. Stevens until they were half way down stairs on their passage out, when she suddenly broke torth in an excited manner with the words, forth in an excited manner with the words "I knew it was a copperhead lie!" "What do you refer to, madam?" asked Mr. Stevens. "Why, they told me he was an ugly-looking man," she replied, with vehemence. "He is the handsomest man I ever saw in my life!" And surely for that mother, and for many another throughout the land, no carved statue of ancient or modern art in all its symmetry ever connected. modern art, in all its symmetry, ever can have the charm which will forevermore encircle the care-worn but gentle face, expressing as was never expressed before 'Malice toward none—Charity for all."

THE SPRINGFIELD APPARATION. My attention has been two or three times called to a paragraph now going the rounds of the uewspapers conceruing a singular apparation of himself in a looking glass, which Mr. Lincoln is stated to have seen on the day he was first nominated at Chicago. The story as told is quite incorrect and is made to appear very mysterious, and believing that the taste for the superwithout perverting that the taste for the super-metural is sufficiently ministered unto without perverting the facts, I will tell the story as the President told it to Johu Hay, the assistant private secretary, and myself. We were in his room together about dark the evening of the Baltimore Convention. The gas had just been lighted, and he had been telling us how he had that afternoon received the news of the nomination of Andrew Johnson for the Vice President before he heard of his own.

It seemed that the dispatch announcing his renomination had been sent to his office from the War Department while he was at lunch. Directly afterward, without going back to the official chamber, he proceeded to the War Department. While there the telegram came announcing the nomination of Johnson. "What," said he to the operaof Johnson, "What," said he to the operator, "do they nonmate a Vice President before they do a President?" "Why," replied the astonished official, "have you not heard of your own nonsination? It was sent to the White Honse two hours ago," "It is all right," replied the President, "I shall probably that it on my return."

Laughing pleasantly over this incident, he said, soon afterward: "A very singular occurrence took place the day I was nominated at Chicago, four years ago, which I am reminded of to-night. In the afternoon of the day, returning home from down town, I went up stairs to Mrs. Lincoln's sitting room. Feeling somewhat tired I laid ting room. Feeling somewhat tired I laid down upon a couch in the room directly opposite a bureau upon which was a looking glass. As I reclined my eye fell upon the glass, and I saw distinctly two images of myself, exactly alike, except that one was a little paler than the other. I arose, and laid down again with the same result. It made me quite uncomfortable for a few moments, but some friends coming in, the matter passed out of my mind. The next day while walking in the street I was suddenly reminded of the circumstance, and the disagreeable sensation produced by it returned. I had never seen anything of the kind before, and did not know what to make of it. I determined to go home and place myself in the same position, and if the same effect was produced I would make up my mind that it was the natural result of some principle of refraction or opics, which I did not understand, and dismiss it. I tried the experiment, with the samo result, and as I had said to myself, necounting for it on some principle unknown to me, it ceased to trouble me. But," said h. Besides my brief of Gen. Rousseau's record published last January in the Union Press, the following, then published in the Cincinnati Gazette, is worth reproducing here, as the illustrious General is now our caudidate for the more popular branch of Congress. Angust 26, 1861, at Camp Joe Holt, I heard Gen. Rousseau say to an immense audience Gen. Rousseau say to an immense audience of the contrary, it was only visible in a contain angle, and On the contrary, it was only visible in a certain position and a certain angle, and therefore he thought could be accounted for upon scientific principles. I have mentioned this story only to show upon what a slender foundation a marvellous account may bo built. GOT HIM.-Mr. Rogers, of Milford, member of the Connecticut House of Representatives, said in a speech on the proposed amendment to the Constitution, striking out the word "white," that there were quite a number of negroes in his town, but he did not know, and never had heard of one who was a passable mechanic. Mr. Thomas Peterson, of Milford, a colored mau, objects to this declaration, and writes to the New Haven Palladium as follows: "Mr. Rogers was 'brought up' a carriage painter, and, I believe, was called a 'passa ble mechanic' on orunnental carriage painting, which is the business I work at and although I never served any regular appreuticeship at the business, and what I know I have learned myself, yet I will, and do, challeuge Mr. Rogers to work with me on any ornamental striping, or fancy car-riage painting, the work to be submitted to the judgment and decision of Messrs. Hub-bell & Haight, of Bridgeport, at whose car-riage manufactory I now work, doing their ornamental painting, &c. When Mr. Rogers is ready to try his skill with me, I shall be most happy to show him what one of the 'desplsed race' can do."

The Harpers will shortly issue the fifth and sixth volumes of Carlyle's History of Frederick the Great. These concluding volumes open with the year 1757 and terminate with the death of the King in 1786. Nearly thirty years of Frederick's fife are recorded in fourteen hundred pages, while the forty four proceding years conviced the the forty-four preceding years occupied the other four volumes. At the close of his labors, Mr. Carlyle exclaims, as one may im agiue, with a sigh of reliet: "Oh reader, do not, at least, you and I thank God to have now done with it?"

There were one hundred and thirty-three graduates from the South who remained loyal and nineteeu Northern graduates were disloyal.

DECREASE OF THE INDIANS.—The Iudians dwelling within the United States are fast disappearing from among men. In 1840, there were 400,000; in 1850, 350,000; and the census of 1860 shows only 295,400. This is a decrease of 50,000 every ten years. The proportion of decrease is steadily augmented as the path of empire takes its way west ward.

A Religious People.

In the Jane number of the Religious Magazine the experience of the Sons of Rechab is used as a text for a few words louching the destiny of our nation; the author arging that in order to carry on from age to age the great designs of Providence we must be a religious people. "Why," he asks, "does a nation ever grow old?" "Its physical life is perpetually renewed.
Why should it not ilourish in immortal
outh? Why have so many nations, ones youth? great and powerful, vanish from the history and the map of the world? Does this doous of extinction necessarily await every na-tion that shall hereafter exist? It would seem that nations have died because their national spirit has decayed. The idea that was the informing principle of their national character and the lifeblood of their na-tional being was exhausted. But suppose tional being was exhausted. But suppose that the central principle of a nation's life were one that could not be exhausted; that it were the eternal truth of Christ's gospel, capablo of endless development and of apcapable of endless development and of application to all possible exigeucies of human society. Such a nation would try the experiment of national life under entirely new circumstances. Its extinction could not be certainly predicted from the experi-ence of the past. By the good providence of God a great Christian principle is at the centre of our national lite. If by his spirit he shall breathe into successive generations the disposition and purpose of fidelity to it, the heart of man caunot concelvo the future glories of our country."

A SENSIBLE CONCLUSION.-The Londo Times has come to the conclusion that much mischief has been caused by the atterance in England of "Joase ideas" respecting the United States. It seeks, therefore, to make some amends for its own delinquencies, by devoting a leader to annualified praise of the states and the contract of the states of the states and the states are states and the states of the states are states and the states are states are states are states and the states are devoting a leader to unqualified praise of the statesmau-like qualities of which President Johnson, in its judgmeut, shows himeulogy on Jeff. C. Davis, commanding the fighting Fourteenth Corps, from the pen of General W. T. Sherman, we find in one of our exchanges, and do not recollect of ever seeing it in print before. By the date, it will be seen that it was written some time ago, and the "accidents of war" to which General Sherman alludes, has not only ago, and the "accidents of war" to which General Sherman alludes, has not only brought, but kept, the two Generals together, and proved that the confidence in Davis expressed by Sherman was not unworthily bestowed. Jefferson C. Davis was originally appointed Colonel of the 23d Indiaua Reglinent, organized at Madison, and by his superior skill as a military man, has worked his way up the ladder of fame to his present enviable position. At the time of his appointment he was a Captain in tho regular army.

GENERAL JEFF. C. DAVIS. - The following

HEADQUATERS DEPARTMENT OF THE TENNESSEE, CHATTANOOGA, December 18,
1863.—Gen. Jeff. C. Davis, Chattanooga.—
Dear General: In our recent short but most useful campaign, it was my good fortune to have attached to me the corps Geu. Howard and the division commanded by yourself. I now desire to thank you, personally and officially, for the handsome manuer in which you and your command have borne which you and your command have borne themselves thoughout. You led in the pursuit of Bragg's army on the route dosignated for my command, and I admired the skill with which you handled the division at Chickamanga, and more especially in the short and sharp encounter at nightfall near Greyville, when Gen. Grant called apon us unexpectedly and without due preparation, to march to Knoxville. You and your officers proved yourselves to be soldiers and patriots, marching through cold and mire without a nurmin, trusting to accident for shelter and subsistence.

During the whole march, whenever, I encountered your command, I found all its countered your command, I found all its officers at their proper places, and the men in admirable order.

This is the true test, and I pronounce your division one of the best ordered in the service. I wish you all the honor and success lu your career, and shall deem myself most fortunate, if the accidents of war bring ye together again.

Be kind enough to say to General Morgan, General Beatty and Colonel McCook, that I have publicly and privately com-mended their brigades, and that I stand prepared at all times to assist them in hatever way lies in my power.

Again I thank you personally, and beg to submit myself,

Your sincere friend, W. T. SHERMAN, Major Geueral.

THE PASTOR OF THE FITST PRES-BYTERIAN CHURCH ON LOYAL-

The Democrat of Sunday June 11, contained a speech delilvered by Rev. S. R. Wilson, of this city, before the General Aswhich recently met at Pittsburg in the State of Pennsylvania,

This speech was evidently prepared for citizens of Kentucky. We are told in the Democrat "that the effect of the speech on the Assembly, and the vast audience pressent was electrical," but when the Assembly came to vote the electricity seems to have been drawn off, and the resolution against which the speech was aimed, passed the Assembly by an overwhelming ma-

The resolution which seems to have exelted Dr. Wilson's wrath reads as follows: Resolved, That no missionaries be appointed by the Board, except those giving satisfactory evidence of loyalty to the National Government, and cordial sympathy with the Presbyterian Church in her testimony on Doctrine, Loyalty and Freedom. To loyal men in this latitude this resolution of the Assaulth and the Assa tion of the Assembly seems not only proper in itsell, but also absolutely necessary in the present aspect of our public affairs. The thought differently, heuce this speech of Dr.

the seasous and as uncertain as the wlnds." "It is undefined as the horizon," "vague, inconsistent and contradictory," therefore the resolution under consideration ought enough Dr. Wilson concludes his sophistical tirade against loyalty in general, by an some things," and that is all. egotistical declaration of his own individual and nnquestionable loyalty.

"I am loyal to my country and I am loyal to Christ," exclaims this Ohio Doctor of Divinity as he closes his speech before the Assembly:

The members of the General Assembly and the thousands and tens of thousands of the members of churches in the free States don't know what loyalty is, but I, Samuel R. Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian ('hurch in the city of Louisville, understand all about it. "I am loyal to my country.

Dr. Wilson, having thus proclaimed his own loyalty, one feels curious to know what the term means as practically defined what the term means as practically defined by himself. This point is clearly set forth of martial law is very great.—[Democrat. in another part of the Doctor's speech.

It appears that one J. H. Thornwell, a in South Carelina, some time in 1862, felt himself called upon to write a tract in orburg, Va., and is a most precious specimen of the tract and its author; and, in order try, was discharged from the Work Honse that our readers may understand precisely day before yesterday, by order of Major Portable and Stationary Steam what it is which Dr. Wilson undertakes to General Palmer. defend, we quote the whole of the extracts which his speech contains. Here is the months, and for auything in his power or precious document:

Public spirit will not have reached the hight which the exigency demands until we have relinquished all fastidious notions of military etiquette, and have come to the point of expelling the enemy by any and every means that God has put in our power. We are not fighting for military glory; we every means that God has put in our power, We are not fighting for military glory; we are fighting for a home and for a national existence. We are not aiming to display our skill in tactics and generalship: we are aiming to show ourselves a free people, worthy to possess and able to defend the institutions of our fathers. What signifies it to us how the foe is vangulshed, provided it is done? Because we have not weapons of the most approved workmanship, are we of the most approved workmanship, are we to sit still and see our soil overrun, and our wives and children driven from their homes, while we have in our hands other weapons that can equally do the work of death? Are we to perish if we cannot conquer by the technical rules of scientific warfare? Are we to sacrifice our country to military punctilio? The thought is monstrous. We must be prepared to extemporize expedients. We must cease to be chary either about our weapons or the means of using them.

The end is to drive back our foes. If we cannot procure the best rifles, let us put up with the common guns of the country; if they cannot be had, with p'kes, and axes, and tomahawks; anything that will do the work of death is an effective instrument in a brave man's hand. We should be ready for the regular battle or the parties patr, will be observed that in the good old days

With all due deference to the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church we begleave and abiding thanks of every true Union leave to suggest that we think "there is yet | man in the State for the impartial and a more excellent way." It is possible, bare- scrupnions manner in which he has suply possible, that Dr. Thornwell, and his plemented the efforts of civil authorities friend Dr. S. R. Wilson, might draw very harmiess and very honorable conclusions from the trait orous teachings of this "truly evangelical tract." Let us see what these teachings are: The rebels are invited "to come to the point of expelling the enemy by any and every means that God has put in their (our) power." "They (we) must be prepared to extemporise expedients and must cease to be chary either about our weapons or the means of using them." "Anything that will do the work of death is an effective instrument in a brave man's hand." These rebel preachers being very piously and humauely inclined, might interpret this language so as to use for themselves nothing but "guns and pilces and axes and tomahawks," in doing the work of treason; but how about the common folks residing in the Confederacy, who were never blessed with a religious training, and were not sembly of the Presbytcriau Church (O. S.) tronbled with pious scruples, would they, or did they, interpret the teachings of this tract and other similar publications in the mild and christian and konorable manner home consumption, rather than for the en- suggested by Dr. Wilson? Let the idntilalightenment of the General Assembly, and ted heroes who have escaped the scarcely as such it challenges the criticism of the less than infernal horrors of Libby, and Salisbury, and Andersonville, answer this question. The plain teachings of the tract are broad enough and comprehensive enough to judinde every species of cruelty and destruction which the treason of rebels or the ingenuity of fiends could suggest. Dr. Blackburn thought it quite honorable to engage in the nefarious scheme of introducing yellow fever into the cities of the sea-), oard States, and according to the testimouy of an unimpeachable witness, a rebel Doctor ot Divinity, claiming to be paster of a Presbyteriau Church in Kentucky, and a ioyal citizen of the United States, was privy to the plot and failed to expose it. Lieut. Manry, a rebel officer educated at the expense of the National Government, thought that God had given him a special mission for these "imps of heil," called torpedoes, wherewith to deskoy the Government that secession sympathizers who represented had protected and educated him. The the Louisville Presbytery in the Assembly keepers of the rebel prisons at Andersonville and Saiisbury thouht that the wholesale starvation of Union prisoners was by Dr. W. is the word loyalty as expressed teachings of the "Evangelical tract No. in the resolution. He thinks that "Dr. Thornwell may have been mistaken and misled in

Well, the Rev. S. R. Wilson, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Louisville, may be a very loyal man, according to the notions of loyalty prevailing in his own church and congregation;" but if the masses of the American people had no higher or more ennobling standard of loyalty than the one set up by him, there would to-day be no "AMERICAN NATIONALITY," but only a mere conglomerate of confederate anarchy struggling in the death-throes of the National life.

THE AFFLICTION OF MARTIAL LAW.

Appropos of which note the following facts, showing the application and oppres-Presbyterian Doctor of Divinity, residing sive character of "martial law in this State:" On the 25th of April last, Wm. Scott, a colored man, who, to earn his living, had der the more thoroughly to stir up the hired himself as a servant at the Louisville devil of secession enmity in the Southern | Hotel, was arrested at the instance of a Mr. heart. This tract was issued from Peters- Yano, of this city, and taken before his honor, Judge Johnston, for trial. On hearof Presbyterian secession piety. GEN. L. H. ROUSSEAU.

On Wednesday this gallant soldier and patriot addressed a large and attentive audience at Bowling Green, in his happiest and most effective style. Assuming that slavery was the sole eause of the war, and that it was doomed to inevitable and speedy destruction, he urged, with great power and effect, that it was the dnty of Kentucky to elect a Legislature that would ratify the amendment to the constitution, and rid herself of what is now only a nuisance and crushing weight on the prosperity of the

The Union men of old Warren were delighted with his manly and uneqivocal position taken on the great question of the day. But it was only what they expected of the hero, who, in the beginning of the rebellion, scouted the idea of neutrality as degrading to Kentuckiaus, and eveuts have vindicated his judgmeut.

General Rousseau is doing noble work in the Southern portion of the State, and the Union men of Kentucky owe him a debt of gratitude which can hardly be repaid. On Tuesday hespoke to a large crowd at Franklin, yesterday at Glasgow, and to-day he will address the citizens of Hart county at Muufordville. Ou Saturday night the cilizens of Louisville will have the opportunity of hearing him.

CAMP MEETING ON GREEN STREET. me persous who remember Stnart Rob-ou's tent on Jefferson street, think that miniature editious of that thing are taber-nacling on Green street, between Fifth and Sixth and Center streets. This is a mistake The inside of the large edifice, once adorned by the virtues of the Rev. Wm. L. Breckin ridge, has become very unhealthy, and it is shoped that loyalty may purify the lot on which the house stands. We learn that pulpit treason became perfectly putrescent in the "seared" services last Sanday, and on Monday loyalty encamped in the lot. and some of Sherman's veterans stand guard. As Sherman's "bummers" have disbanded, we presume the house will not march off, but there would not be much weeping and wailing amoug loyal people if that event were to occur. The rebel symmethics were to receive the rebel symmethics.

U.S. CIRCUIT COURT AT SPRINGFIELD, Inc.—We find the following in regard to a case on trial before the U.S. Circuit Court riugtield, Ill., iu the Chicago Republican of the 12th:

Some important suits are being tried this session. One is that in which Dr. W. F. Southern, of Louisville, is plaintiff, and J. M. Campbell, brother-in-law of Gen. John A. Logan, is defendant. In this case to-day Hon. Milton Hay is making one of the most masterly arguments ever delivered in this part of the State. Southern sues Camp this part of the State. Southern sues campbell for money (about $8,000) advanced by bim at Holly Springs in December, 1862, for cotton purchased for Campbell. The cotton was burned right after purchase by Van Dorn. Southern insists that Campbell owes him for the cotton. Campbell this to prove a sattlement.

HEADQUARTERS 43D Offio V. V. I., LOUISVILLE, KY., June 15, 1865. EDS. PRESS: Having noticed a very e roneous statement in your paper of this date in regard to the "fatal shooting" of Sergeant James McNary, of this regiment, I desire to call your attention to the facts in the case with a view to correction. Upon making horough investigation into the cause of th thorough investigation into the cause of the lamentable accident, I find the faets to be very nearly as follows: The gun that was tired had been standing against a tree, loaded but not capped, having been placed there by a soldier who had just come out guard. The gun was pieked up by one of several small boys who were in camp. He was ordered by a soldier to put it down, which he did; but the soldier afterwards going away, he took it up again loid is going away, he took it up again, laid it down on the ground, capped it, and pulled the trigger, no doubt to hear the cap snap. The ball struck the ground, glanced up wards, passed through the poles of ou shelter tent into another tent, where Se geaut McNary was sitting writing a letter The ball entered near the junction of the lower rib and back bone in the right side coming out well in front, and lodged in the It is greatly to be feared that the wound will prove fatal, but he is still alive and rests easy. Captain Speakman was not present when the shot was fired, and says that he had no conversation with any one whatever about snapping caps.

All papers that have published any account of the affair other than this, will please copy. Very respectfully, 2d Brigade, 15th Army Corps.

A BRIEF ACCOUNT OF THEIR SER-

The second brigade of the first division of the fifteenth army corps was organized at Paducah, Ky., iu February, 1862, and was originally commanded by Col. S. G. Hleks, of the 40th Illinois infantry. It has siuce been commanded by Col. John A. McDowell, of the 6th Iowa infantry; Brig. Gen. John M. Corse, (now Brevet Major General;) Brlg. Gen. Charles C. Walcutt, (now Brevet Major General;) and is now commanded by Brig. Gen. Robert F. Caterson. This hrigade has been serving in the field continually sluce its organization; was engaged at Shiloh, Corinth, Vicksburg, Jackson, and Chattanooga, and has since participated actively in Sherman's famous ampaigns of Georgia and the Carolinas The present organization of the brigade is as follows: Brig. General R. F. Catterson, commauding; Capt. O. J. Fast, assistant adjutant general; Lieut. L. H. Hopkins, A. A. Q. M.; Capt. R. Z. Davidson, A. D. C.; Lieut, A. T. Samson, A. D. C. in any quantity by leaving their orders at ONE HUNDRED AND THIRD ILLINOIS IN-

The one hundred and third regiment 11-linois volunteers, Lt. Col. G. W. Wright commanding, was raised entirely in Fulton ounty, Illinois, and was mustered into the United States service at Peorla, Illinois, October 2, 1862. On the 30th of the same month were ordered South, and arrived at Lagrange, Tenn., with the first of the troops then concentrating there under the immediate command of General Grant. They participated in the winter campaign in Mississippi, and in January, 1863, were sent to Jackson, Tenn., to essist in driving Forres from that section. During the spring they were distributed as bridge gnards on the Memphis and Charleston railroad between Grand Junction and Coripth. June first, were ordered to Vicksburg, where our di-vision was assigned to the fifteenth army corps, under General Sherman. After the fall of Vicksburg and the evacuation of Jackson, Miss., the regiment spent two mouths of sickness and death in camp near Black river, and hailed with joy an order for our corps to report to General Grant at Chattanooga. A campaign of 400 miles on boats, and 800 miles of marching during which time it lost nearly half its effective force at Mission Ridge, and assisted in re-lieving Knoxville, and ended with going into winter quarters at Scottsboro, Alaba-ma. There it built comfortable cabins to hold the baggage, while they in light marching order were almost continually out on expeditions of from five to twenty-tive days duration. May 1st, 1864, they burn ed their winter quarters and bade a tender (and it proved a final) adieu to extra bag-gage, and with 15 officers and 319 muskets ntered on the Atlanta campaign. From Resacca to Lovejoy, the regiment was honored with a place in every fight in which the division was engaged, loosing in killed and wounded ten officers, including the Colonel killed, Lieutenant Colonel May and senior Captaiu wounded, out of the 15 who entered the campaign, and 203 of the 319 culisted meu. It followed Hood's army on their raid on our communications, and skirmished with his rear guard at Golden,

Alabama, where the pursuit ended. They returned to Atlauta, from where they had the advance of the fifteenth corps. On the tirst day's march of the Savannah cam-paigu, with their brigade at Griswold-ville, Ga., assisted in thoroughly whipping the Georgia militia relieved Gen. Bra Provost Guards at Savannah, which duty it performed until the opening of the cam paigu northward, through the Carolinas. Did provost duty over the ruins of Columbia, South Carolina, two days, and assisted in the battle of Bentouville, North Carolina. Its fighting closed at Raleigh, N. delegation of the colored men of Richmond arrived here to-day to seek an interview with the President. They represent that under the inilitary restrictions in Richmond their condition is not better than it was when they were in slavery, and they propose to ask that an inquiry be made as to the facts, in order that the proper reusedy may be applied to place them on a foot-ing in consocance with the liberal and enlightened policy of the Government as to the colored population in the South. Petitions for pardons from leading men of the late rebellion are coming in by huu-

dreds per day.

Among the men of note whose petitions were received to-day are Major General Ed. Johnstou and Joseph R. Sanders, of Tredgar Iron Works. A clause is now inserted in the pardon intended to prevent the applicant from claiming in the courts exemption from the operation of the confiscation gets, thus having a settlement of the cation acts, thus having a settlement of the matter of confiscation of rebel property by the courts and Congress hereafter where the facts are such as call for relief.

WASHINGTON, June 25.-A general misapprehension as to that part of the Presi-eut's proclamation published this morn-ing which removes restrictions upon trade prevails. Very few persons understand the proclamation as affecting the act of Con-gress which provides for the payment of 25 per cent, of the products to the Govern-ment.

The proclamation is intended and does entirely wipe out the 25 per cent. clause, and totally abolishes the Treasury special agency for the purchase of products for the Government, and puts an end to cotton agents. President Hoard Trade.

The I flowing reply came by telegraph to-day at 4.P. Mi.;

Washington June 16—To John M. Smith, 1858—President Washington, June 15-To John H. Smith, Esq., Predent Board of Trade, Lonlaville-Yes, the proclamatic removes all restrictions on all products and on all tradexcept in contrabant articles, east of the Mississipriver.

This we pretume settles the question, and we hope no ore needless res rictions can be thrown around to rade and commerce of our city, to its detriment and th percent of other places. The 25 per cent lax on cotton i thus summarily taken off, freasury and custom hous special agents are dispensed with, and colton agents ar also thrown upon the legitimate usages of trade.

The dispatches to the Merchants' Exchange lo-ds noted a gradual advance in gold in New York, the open ing figures being 113'4, and closing at 12:30 P. M. at 14t's. We think the foreign speemlators in 5-20 bonds, our German friends, have alded in the inflation—by their operations some line since in the purchase of "one hundred millions" when gold was at a high figure, and now the are throwing their late purchases on the market sta uett gain of at least one hundred per cent. The New York market yesterday was octive for most articles of consumption. Sugar had advanced bic, and there was a speculative movement in coffee, the particulars of which were kept secret. The market for tobace was unchanged, and holders of flour, wheat and corwere asking higher rates. Mess pork was in good demand, and prices had an upward tendency. The cott.

market was unchanged, the quotations for middling ranglug from 40 to 41c.

GROCERIES-Market somewhat unseitled 10-day, with He proceeds to note first, that at the time his (if s) troops were ordered to Greensboro, N. C., that section of the State was not in General Sherman's command, as the latter asserts. General Halleck then says: But whether or not Greensboro or any other part of North Carolina was in my command, Gen. Sherman's remarks are equally without justification. On the 22d of April Lieutenant General Grant notified me that Sherman's arrangements had been disapproved, and orders were given to resume hostilities, and directed me to move my troops on Danville and Greensboro precisely as I did move them there to await his further orders.

My instructions to Generals, Meade, Sheridan, and Wright were just such instructions as Gen. Grant had directed me to give. The offense, or whatever he may please to call it—if any there was—of marching my troops within the territory claimed by me, but by General Sherman, was not made by me, but by General Sherman, was not made by me, but by General Grant, and all the abuse which he has directed upon me in that act must fall upon the General-in-Chief.

2d, General Halleck claims that he vio—
